The Score

The score consists of four parts: soprano saxophone, alto saxophone, tenor saxophone, and baritone saxophone. Each part is written in the key of B flat major and has a range of about two octaves. The piece is divided into three sections:

- Section A: The opening section is characterized by its energetic rumba rhythm and catchy melody. The sopranos and altos play the melody in unison, while the tenors and baritones provide rhythmic support.

- Section B: The middle section shifts to a more lyrical tango style. The sopranos and altos play a slower, more expressive melody, while the tenors and baritones continue to provide rhythmic support.
- Section C: The final section returns to the rumba rhythm of Section A, but with a more elaborate and developed melody. The sopranos and altos again play the melody in unison, while the tenors and baritones provide a more complex rhythmic accompaniment.

Instrumentation

"Amapola" is typically performed by a saxophone quartet consisting of:

- Soprano saxophone
