A Legacy of Faith and Service

Born in 1892 in the Netherlands, Corrie ten Boom grew up in a devoutly Christian family. Her father, Casper, instilled in her a deep love for God and a belief in the power of prayer. From a young age, Corrie dedicated herself to serving others, becoming involved in various charitable organizations.

When the Nazis invaded the Netherlands in 1940, Corrie and her family were determined to help those in danger. In their small home in Haarlem, they converted a hidden room in the attic into a hiding place for Jews fleeing persecution. Despite the constant threat of discovery, Corrie and her siblings, Betsie and Willem, selflessly risked their lives to provide shelter and comfort to those in need.

Resistance and Imprisonment

As the war intensified, Corrie and her family became increasingly involved in resistance activities. They forged false documents, smuggled food and supplies to those in hiding, and helped people escape to neutral territory. Their daring actions put them in constant danger, and in 1944, they were betrayed and arrested by the Nazis.

Corrie and Betsie were sent to the infamous Ravensbrück concentration camp, where they endured unspeakable horrors. Yet, even in the depths of despair, their faith remained unwavering. They comforted their fellow prisoners, shared their meager rations, and whispered words of hope and encouragement.

Unwavering Faith

"The Hiding Place" is not merely a chronicle of suffering and persecution, but a testament to the transformative power of faith. Throughout her ordeal, Corrie's unwavering trust in God sustained her. She believed that even in the darkest moments, there was hope to be found.

After the war, Corrie dedicated her life to sharing her story and spreading a message of forgiveness and reconciliation. She traveled extensively, speaking to audiences around the world, and inspiring countless people with her message of love, hope, and the importance of standing up for what is right.

Legacy and Impact

"The Hiding Place" has had a profound impact on readers worldwide. It has been translated into over 50 languages and has sold over 10 million copies. Corrie's story continues to inspire people today, reminding us of the power of faith, the importance of compassion, and the resilience of the human spirit.

Elizabeth Sherrill's remarkable biography brings Corrie ten Boom's life and legacy to life. Through meticulous research and evocative prose, she paints a vivid portrait of a woman who defied adversity with unwavering faith and courage. "The Hiding Place" is a timeless masterpiece that will continue to inspire and move readers for generations to come.

"The Hiding Place" by Elizabeth Sherrill is a powerful and inspiring testament to the indomitable power of the human spirit. It is a story that will stay with you long after you finish reading it, reminding you of the importance of faith, hope, and the courage to make a difference in the world.
